

ONE - MAN CARS GIVEN TRYOUT

City Rail Officials Hosts To Many Citizens

INITIAL TRIAL WEDNESDAY

Operation Of New Type Carriers Demonstrated

Four of the five new one-man cars of the Lima City Street railway company left the public square at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon bearing their first cargo of local passengers.

More than eighty guests of the company, representatives of the city, various organizations and business men, rode on the initial trip of the cars. Company officials, headed by E. J. Cable, president, acted as hosts. Guests and hosts lived up in front of the cars before they started, to be "shut" by a photographer.

Service will be considerably increased when the five new cars are put to work Thursday on the Main and Wayne-st. line, it is stated. The one-man cars have a seating capacity of 33 persons, company officials say, compared to a capacity of 28 for the old-type cars now in service. When the other fifteen cars, due April 15, are placed in service, the company will be able to handle 660 passengers at the same time as against 500 at the present time.

Representatives of the Lima Street Railway company directing the initial test of the cars comprise the following named: B. J. Jones, general manager; F. A. Bundy, general superintendent; C. E. Baker, secretary, treasurer and auditor; C. W. Randolph, executive; J. B. Corderman, master mechanic; O. J. Mannon, superintendent city lines; F. E. Curry, road engineer; W. A. Marika, claim agent; C. M. Cable, director; A. J. White, traveling agent.

LION OR LAMB ON THURSDAY; WHICH?

Whether March will make its little bow with the ferociousness of a lion or the meekness of a lamb on the morrow, is not altogether clear at this time.

There are any number of persons who hold a lot of faith to the popular tradition that if March comes in cold and blustery, like a lion, it will go out mild and delightfully pleasant, like a lamb. And if it comes in mild, 'twill go out wild.

However, be that as it may, there is no denying that evidence of spring are here. The early birds were chirping cheerfully Wednesday morning and there was a tang in the air that indicates near-awakening of all nature.

Sap running time is also near—perhaps it has already started. Sugar camps are about due to open and Ted will have a new job—gathering the sap buckets.

Unsettled, light rain or snow to night and in extreme north portion Thursday. No change in temperature.

If that prediction holds good, it may be a tossup between the lion and the lamb.

MT. PLEASANT BANDITS BELIEVED SAME MEN WHO ROBBED AND SHOT COZART

Belief that the four bandits who held up and robbed the People's National bank at Mount Pleasant Saturday and then made their getaway without obtaining any loot, in a large green touring car, may be the same quartet that figured in the sensational robbery of William Cozart, "Nigger Island" grocer, two weeks ago, was expressed at Kenton by Sheriff George Berlien after he had obtained a description of the men now held at Mt. Pleasant for the robbery.

Cozart said that one of the men held in the jail town fitted the description very closely with the one who held him over after firing four shots while companions remained in a large dark car on the road. Cozart said there were four men in the party that night and said he may go to Mt. Pleasant Wednesday in an attempt to identify the man who shot at him four times, hitting him once in the leg. Cozart was robbed of approximately $1,000 in cash and bonds.

TWO BOYS ARE HELD TO GRAND JURY AT KENTON IN MCGUFFEY FORGERY

Kent Adams, 23, and Walter Joseph, 21, were bound over to the grand jury on $500 bond Wednesday by Justice A. M. Rice at Kenton after pleading not guilty to a charge of forging a check for $35, alleged to have been passed in Harrod Thursday by Ernie Conely, 17. After hearing the charges against Conely, Probate Judge R. D. Turner reserved decision until he investigates those against Edgar Burton, 15, held on the same charge. All four live in McGuffey and were arrested shortly after the check had been passed.

PNEUMONIA BRINGS DEATH OF MRS. ANNA WILLIAMS

Mrs. Anna Williams, 75, died at her home, 107 Fairview-av., early Wednesday morning from pneumonia. She is survived by three sons, James, at home, Ernest and Edmond of Lima. Also two daughters, Mrs. Michael Kelly and Mrs. Carl Hendze, both of Lima, are left. One brother, William Holmes, of Lima, and one sister, Mrs. Allen Grubbs, of Ada, also are left.

CHIROPRACTORS' CASES CONTINUED IN COURT

Lima chiropractors who were arrested last week on charges of practicing without licenses, and who have announced that they will go to jail in preference to paying fines, appeared before Justice Guyton Tuesday afternoon. Action, however, was postponed in order to allow both prosecution and defense to have more time in preparing their cases for trial.

LEGION MEN VISIT WAPAK FOR "40 HOMMES" EVENT

Members of Lima's legion of "La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux," a secret organization within the American Legion, went to Wapakoneta Wednesday aiding in initiation of additional members of the Wapakoneta legion. Thirty men will be initiated in the New Bremen legion and about 20 in Wapakoneta. The event will take place at the Wapakoneta Legion hall.

DIVORCE IS SOUGHT

Mrs. Nora McGuire, 425 N. West-st., filed suit for divorce in common pleas court Wednesday against Lloyd McGuire, 209 Pennsylvania-av., charging in her petition that McGuire would not bring his wages home and that she was dependent upon her parents for food. The couple was married in Lima in June 1919 and have two children, according to the petition.

BOARD TO MEET

Regular weekly luncheon meeting of the executive committee of the Board of Commerce will be held Thursday noon at the Sike club.

TRADE IDEAS OF U.S. CHANGED

Government Now Backs Americans In Business Abroad

FORMERLY DISCOURAGED

Face About Is Commented On By B. C. Forbes

(BY B. C. FORBES)

NEW YORK.—(Special)—Chickens come home to roost. The American government for decades gave little or no encouragement to energetic citizens or corporations that sallied forth to conquer foreign outlets for American products, the first of American labor, American materials, American genius.

American capitalists and industrial leaders who launched enterprises in other parts of the world received no support from Washington, but some times were told that they and their enterprises were a source of annoyance to the Department of State. Bryan expressed the typical Washington view of yesterday when he scolded capitalists for complaining that their legitimately acquired properties in Mexico were being confiscated and snapped, "If you don't like the way you are being treated in Mexico, get out." He indicated that they should have kept their activities inside their own national borders.

Think of the change today. The government is very much worried because American capitalists haven't acquired enough properties and enterprises in other lands, especially rubber land and rubber plantations.

The government is also particularly eager to have American business interests reach out for control of oil properties.

John D. Rockefeller once told me that it gave him deep satisfaction to reflect that his company had been able to build up important international trade and to bring into this young undeveloped country capital which was badly needed in the early days. He had to conduct his operations not merely without any co-operation from the government, but often despite obstacles thrown in the way.

The packers have had the same kind of experience with Washington. The government's attitude, giving the support the British and German governments extended to their business citizens and organizations seeking foreign trade, has been "agin". So much so, indeed, that when any foreign government sought to deal a blow at American packers, all it had to do was to quote from statements made by the American government about them. That was sufficient to justify any and every action proposed to be taken in defense against such a gang of poisoners and scoundrels and robbers as Washington pictured the packers as being.

An international campaign is being waged by powerful business interests, backed up by their respective governments. It is an interesting and important vital fight. The stakes are the future rise or decay of the nations now leading the world.

Three basic commodities essential to modern civilization are cotton, oil and rubber. The international battle royal centers around these.

Britain has been striving for years to develop cotton growing within her domain. The British government has offered subsidies galore. Experiments innumerable have been prosecuted. British brains as well as British capital, have been assigned to the problem.

Outside of Egypt relatively little cotton is raised even now in any British lands. Some headway has been made in Africa, but not enough to affect or threaten American cotton growing supremacy.

The world war, it has been said, not inaptly, was won by oil. There is now under headway a world war for oil.

Foreign governments have sought to prevent American interests from extending their spheres into certain rich oil territories.

And now America gives warning that she will give tit for tat, that she will shut out from the exploitation of new oil lands here the subjects or citizens of any government that metes out such treatment to Americans.

And now rubber is exercising the leading chancelleries of the world—as well it may, for rubber is rapidly becoming more and more important in the scheme of things.

America uses most of the world's output of rubber. The British empire raises most of the world's output. The status is the reverse of the status in cotton.

Had our governments during the last thirty or forty years taken a more statesmanlike view of business problems, had a later foresight been exercised, had co-operation instead of obstruction been the government policy, the United States would not be in the position it is today in regard to either oil or rubber.

Let us hope that in future the politicians will be less shortsighted than they have been in the past.

Let us hope that the government will hereafter be as ready to help the business men of this country as the most enlightened of foreign governments are to help their business men.

It's a silly bird that fouls its own nest.

MATERIAL IS SELECTED FOR POLICE UNIFORMS; DANCE TO BOOST FUND

The Fireman's ball which was set for March 28, has been postponed, according to an announcement by Fire Chief Mack. The fire fighters will not hold their dance until next fall.

The Policemen's ball, on April 3, will be held at Memorial Hall and reports of the ticket sale to date show that one of the largest crowds ever present at a local dance, will be on hand to participate with "The Arms of The Law."

Money derived from the dance will be used to purchase new uniforms for the police force. So encouraging has been the ticket sale that material for the new uniforms was selected Wednesday morning.

Willis Kipper chief of detectives, who is in charge of the "Coppers' Ball," asserted that there are a few citizens of Lima who have not yet bought tickets and that they will be expected to come across some time before they dance.

COLLISION VICTIM'S BODY REMOVED TO STEINER HOME

The body of Mrs. U. S. Steiner, 63, of Toledo, who died Tuesday at St. Rita's hospital from injuries received in an automobile accident, was taken to her home Tuesday night. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Her husband, U. S. Steiner, 61, and her son, Jesse Steiner, 36, both of whom received injuries in the accident, were able to leave the hospital and accompany the body home.

Mrs. Steiner, who was in the truck that collided with the Steiner car, have recovered from their injuries.

The accident occurred on the N. West-st. road, just north of the city limits, when a truck owned by the White Mountain Creamery company, in charge of Bunke, collided head-on with the Steiner car.

Both drivers claimed to be on the right side of the road at the time of the accident.

HARLEY FUNERAL TO TAKE PLACE FRIDAY

For 30 years an employee at the Solar Refinery and a resident of Lima 33 years, John Harley, 83, died at 7 p. m. Tuesday at the family home, 723 S. Main-st.

HARDING BRAVES DANGER.

Even political opponents of President Warren G. Harding must admit that while he is flying in the face of political providence, he has demonstrated a braud of loyalty to his friends and backers that is commendable.

This is the consensus of opinion of the politically wise who watch the trend of national administrative affairs with interest. If any further proof of the fact was necessary the appointment by President Harding of United States Senator Harry S. New of Indiana to be postmaster general supplies it in an unmistakable manner.

Making way for Senator New, whose term expires on March 1, the president accepted the resignation of Albert B. Fall, of New Mexico as secretary of the interior and planned to transfer Postmaster General Hubert Work to Fall's post. The change is apparently satisfactory to Work. In fact, high up politicians state that it was planned more than a year ago that eventually New should be made postmaster general, when it became patent that he was due to be defeated for renomination.

In placing New in his cabinet, despite that he was given a beating in the Indiana primaries by former Senator Albert J. Beveridge, President Harding has erected an example of the fact that he remains loyal to his friends. Since Beveridge was defeated in the election by former Governor Samuel Ralston, after retiring New, there can be no other deduction than that New and his friends aided in the downfall of Beveridge, altho the latter made strenuous efforts to line up both progressives and old guard.

If President Harding expects to again be a candidate, he could not have taken action of any kind or character that would more positively assure danger of the loss of Indiana to him. New's appointment will rip the G. O. P. organization wide open in the Hoosier state. Political fireworks are assured in the next state to the west.

DON'T HELP SUGAR SPECULATORS.

CERTAIN interests, having cornered the sugar market, are preparing to gouge the consumer—always the goat when a corner on any product is effected.

Prices of this staple already have mounted. They have gone from a low level of $6.25 to $6.50 a few months ago to around $10 a hundred in Lima. Some stores are limiting purchases, fearing a shortage.

Consumers can help fight this corner by purchasing only their current needs. Laying in a big supply will not help bring the price down. This procedure is being advised by a number of leading Lima retailers. It is the sensible course.

Grocers of this city see little probability of a serious shortage if the consuming public does not become panicky and rush into the market to buy abnormal quantities of sugar.

Gougers in the east hope to clean up around half a billion dollars by their market manipulation. Already their "paper" profits approximate this amount and each cent added to the price of sugar means $90,000,000 more profit for them.

The Department of Commerce declares there will not be a shortage this year. It was on statements from this department that the "scare" was rigged up, but it was without foundation, late statements from Secretary Hoover show.

Householders should take a hand in this gamble by playing a tight game, buying only as needed, refusing to push in chips as the professionals in the east are hoping for.

OUR LOVE FOR BADGES

WE Americans certainly crave authority and being "pointed out." Have been spending 10 million dollars a year for society badges, emblems and regalia. That's the wholesale price, on leaving the factory. Multiply it by two or three, to get the sum paid by members of secret societies, fraternal organizations, etc. It's twice as much as we spent before the war for labels of authority and standing. That's explained by higher prices.

Since the bulk of this stuff is worn by men, maybe we'd better revise the saying about women "falling for uniforms." Men have the same weakness, expressing itself a different way.

NERVOUS DISEASE INCREASES

MORE hospital cases of nervous breakdown than any other disease are treated, reports Dr. Charles R. Lambert, of Columbia University. He says one person in every 10 is treated for this trouble at some time or other during life. Often nervousness is mental or psychic. Mostly it is a penalty for the noise, rush, battling, worry, filth, congestion and other unnatural living in "civilization."

In the good old days of the horse and buggy, the horse furnished the motive power for the young fellow just starting out in life. He decided what kind of republican he was, and coffee at 30c small pot. Thence out and across the plaza. Gazing in awe on the street car line which the D. C. commission gave 8c fares when it only wanted 6c, Davey Cable should put that down in his book of precedents.

Strolling about, and tarried to greet an old friend. Now an auditor in Treasury Barracks, No. 2. Where they really mint the monies which pay for Gabriel's housekeeping. Enough of records and reports there to lose billions for Uncle Sam. If the frame building, erected for soldiers in 1917, should start to conflagrate. I've always been again government spending. Thinking it extravagant, whether Bryan or Roosevelt were President. Howbeit, we sure need buildings for the Treasury department in this town. And my heart, my hand and my pen are pledged thereto.

Ate a bun, silvered with ham. Thence, into the New Willard. There goes David Lawrence, the famous political depester. Who counted Wilson a winner in 1916. When the wise picked him to sure loss. Making his reputation thereby. Now syndicator of Washington news and typewriter ink. And cleaning up a fortune. Neither Don nor Leach falls for the stuff in Lima papers, but Jimmie Cox plays it across his first page.

Here comes "Bud" Gableman, who invited me to lunch. Drat that sandwich, money wasted. And he phoned he couldn't keep the engagement. First inquiry, Where is Louie Keppler and how is Jack Beall?

Lunched well, on my friend's currency. Here is Nick Longworth again, whom many Ohioans believe an aristocrat. He is well dressed, but last summer while others were loafing, Nick was here working. And he is the iron man of the Ohio delegation. Wonder if he ever plays the piano in these days of greatness.

Out, and down Pennsylvania-av. Mother always hoped I would some day head the procession on those paves. Or be a preacher. Twice disappointed. Must send her a postcard.

John Cable, and with him to the trainshed. It'd trade my hall room bedroom for his Pullman berth to Lima. Back to the Benary. There's Senator Hitchcock (Minnesota) cashing a check. It takes the glue to make even greatness run smoothly. Early to bed.

BREATHING DUST

The inhalation of dust more or less constantly over a period of years, as in certain trades or occupations, causes a kind of hardening of lung tissues with thickening of the walls of the air cells and a chronic bronchitis, the condition being known as pneumonokoniosis which is medical Greek for dusty lungs. If the dust is coal dust, the condition is called anthracosis; if it is iron or other metallic dust, siderosis; mineral dusts cause chalicosis, and so on.

Coal miners are strikingly free from tuberculosis, notwithstanding their exposure to coal dust and the lack of sunlight in their work, yet the miner's lungs are invariably black from coal dust after several years of work. Tuberculosis of the lung is less frequent in miners than in members of their families. Indeed, exposure to coal dust has been seriously advised as a treatment for incipient or at the beginning of tuberculosis.

Pneumonokoniosis is seldom diagnosed. Persons who have it usually assume they have chronic bronchitis, asthma, pleurisy, or tuberculosis; the doctor with a very large number of patients is not likely to insist on careful examinations when patients tell him what is the matter instead of telling him of what they are complaining. This is not so serious a matter, perhaps, save when the dusty lung is assumed to be tuberculosis.

Another dust which seems not only harmless to the lungs, but possibly an actual preventive against tuberculosis is lime dust. For instance, among 400 employees in a gypsum factory, there was no death from tuberculosis in 17 years. Physicians have advised patients in the early stage of tuberculosis to live or work about lime kilns; in many cases the result of such exposure to lime dust is apparently sharp.

Dust particles having sharp or irregular surfaces are naturally most irritating and injurious to the air passages and lungs. Stone dust is probably the worst of all. Stone cutters are 15 times more susceptible to tuberculosis than men engaged in dustless trades.

Dr. E. R. Hayhurst, from a survey of industrial health hazards in Ohio, lists the various dusts in the following order, the least injurious first:

1. Dust arising from the natural earth, such as that to which a farmer may be exposed.
2. Flour and starch dust.
3. Talc, and soapstone dust.
4. Wood dust.
5. Bran dust.
6. Coal dust.
7. Clay dust.
8. Ore dust.
9. Mineral dust.
10. Stone dust.

Lead, arsenic and mercury are the chief mineral dusts. Workers in numerous trades and industries are exposed to these poisonous dusts. Lime, cement and hair workers suffer from chronic inflammation of the eyes and throat. The dust of mussel shells (pearl button manufacture) according to some physicians, cause inflammation in the bone marrow of young persons. The dust in the textile industries, such as the carding, roving, spinning and winding of cotton, and the heckling of linen, causes a chronic bronchitis.

THE TEST

He's "awfully good to his mother,"
And good to his family,
But somehow or somehow or other,
That doesn't mean much to me.
The record that I'd be seeing
Conveniently compiled,
Is—just how good is he being
To somebody else's mother,
And somebody else's brother,
And somebody else's sister,
And somebody's else's
child?

His cubs and his savage mate,
But leave all the rest to perish,
Oblivious of their fate;
But a Man—well, a man's designed to
Be more than a beast that's wild;
And you ask—"Is he fair and kind
Say, somebody else's mother,
to
And somebody else's brother,
And somebody else's sister,
And somebody else's
child?"

The Magic Word

is "Karo" for breakfast. Highest quality—full weight cans—lowest prices and most delicious on pancakes, hot biscuits and for making gingerbread. Nothing better as a spread on bread for children.

Do you know how to make Waffles?

- 2 cups sifted Flour
- 4 teaspoons Baking Powder
- 1 teaspoon Salt
- 1 1/2 cups Milk
- 3 tablespoons Karo
- 3 Eggs

Beat together all dry ingredients. Beat eggs yells, gradually add milk and Karo. Stir liquids into dry ingredients and mix well. Cut and fold in whites of eggs beaten stiff. Have waffles iron hot with Karo. This makes twelve medium sized waffles. Serve with Karo Syrup.

The Crackers Behind the Advertising

One unusual point about the advertising of Perfection Wafers is that the crackers, themselves, back up our strongest statement. Remember this when you read our advertisements.

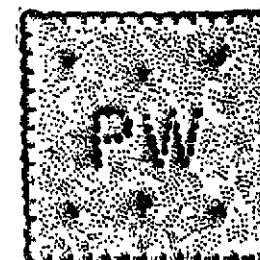

Of all their good features, the very finest characteristic of Perfection Wafers is their absolute uniformity. Each one is as good as the preceding one and that is perfect.

Perfection Wafers have never been equalled which explains why people order Perfection instead of just crackers.

DELPHOS COUNCIL REJECTS PRAYER

Turns Down Petition To "Defer" Action Until 1924

NEW REQUEST IS PLANNED

Motive For Body's Action Seen As Boomerang

Petitions presented by citizens owning property on S. Main, S. Pierce, and Cleveland-sts., Delphos, thoro-fares in the limelight since 1918 when paving negotiations were opened, asking that city council defer action until 1924, were rejected by council at its meeting Tuesday night.

Council, however, decided to give property owners until the next meeting to revamp their petitions.

Five points of the English language were brought out and dusted off after council insisted that petitions the taxpayers presented are not sufficient and do not coincide with the motion made February 13, when that body decided to proceed unless property owners presented petitions stating reasons why they do not want the improvement. In which case money held in the local "booster" fund derived from sale of bonds to pay the city's portion would have been transferred to the board of sinking trustees.

The petitions stated in part that property owners want the improvement deferred until 1924. Council held that the word "deferred" did not meet the requirements. There is a vast difference between "defer" and "do not want," aldermen decided.

PLAN NEW PROTEST

J. H. Jenkins, chairman of a citizens' committee, and Alex Lindemann told council other petitions to "kill" the improvements will be presented at next meeting. By "kill" will be meant that they absolutely do not want the improvement at all. The bond money probably will be transferred to the sinking fund trustees and the matter closed for all time, council hopes.

By a twist of fate, the very thing employed as its impelling motive in bringing the squabble to a showdown Tuesday night acted as a boomerang, it was declared.

Council received notice from the city's depository previous to the last meeting that it would no longer hold the $27,000 amount from the bond sale at more than three percent, the same rate it allows on other city funds. Heretofore six percent has been paid.

Treasurer S. H. Wahmoff told council Tuesday, he declared, that the depository had reconsidered and was willing to continue the six percent rate.

The money feature connected with the matter was believed by property owners to be the only score on which council wanted to protect itself. Chairman Jenkins said. He declared the committee secured a number of private individuals who would be willing to take the money at six percent, but not until council Monday did they become aware that council wanted a final "yes" or "no" expression from them. Then they circulated the petitions, he said.

The petitions include the names of A. W. Wheatley of the Delphos Manufacturing company, which has 670 feet frontage along Pierce-st., Fredrick Rupert, pastor of St. John's Catholic church, which has a frontage of 561 feet on Pierce-st., and many others. The United Brothers church, Delphos Bending company, Mueller Implement & Auto company and 65 others signed the S. Main and Cleveland-st. petition.

Prejudice against the board of control crept into in preparation of the petitions, council declared in discussing the case after property owners left the council chambers. They want the improvement, but not while Mayor J. K. Williams and Service Director Ed Spellman occupy the seats on the control board, hence the wording in the petitions to "defer" until 1924, councilmen said.

An engineer's contract signed by Carl Simons, Van Wert, complicates the situation. Simons renewed his contract for 1924 at a January meeting. After December 30, Service Director Spellman may again renew it, it is expected.

EFFORT FAILS
Councilman John Lehnkuhle supported his amendment to Frank Pfeiffer's motion a month ago to table legislation. His amendment was designed to prevent council from proceeding unless a meeting was held first and a decision made to let the legislative hopper grind. He attacked council's action of February 13 on that score and advocated withdrawal of the motion, but Councilman Wilbur Ditto, who made the motion, would not consent.

Lehnkuhle's opposition threw council into a deadlock, which was broken only after the body had discussed the matter in small knots.

Councilman Frank Pfeiffer was the only member who declared the matter should be decided definitely one way or another. Authorship of the motion that stirred up the latest beehive is unknown. President of Council John Altenburger brought it up, but he refused Tuesday night to state where it came from.

Possibility of council pursuing a different course was suggested. Heretofore it may proceed under a section of the statutes which makes it possible to condemn any street as being in need of improvement, pave it and assess the cost against property owners. Streets are being paved in this manner in Lima, Van Wert and other cities, it is declared. Franklin-st. is regarded as the most logical thoroughfare on which to begin logical of the idea, providing council so decides.

DELPHOS SOCIETY

Court Delphos No. 707 Catholic Daughters of America, held a regular meeting in the K. of C. rooms Tuesday evening.

A state Council will be organized at Cleveland on March 19. Mrs. B. L. Jauman the Grand Regent is expected to attend but if she is unable to Mrs. T. F. Snyder will take her place.

Terming of this Council is to eliminate much of the work concerning the rules and regulations which are now taken up by the national council.

At the meeting of the Dramatic club of the C. D. of A. it was decided that a play or entertainment be given after Easter.

Willow Workers class of the Presbyterian Sunday School met at the M. R. Hart home, W. Third-st., Tuesday evening. Misses Breta and Anabel Ford were hostesses.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Donna King. Sewing was one of the features of the evening. The members of the class are sewing for the Red Cross.

A very delightful luncheon was served by the hostesses later in the evening. The next meeting will take place March 23, but has been decided who will be the next hostess.

NO SPECIAL SERVICES HERE FOR PURIM FEAST

The feast of Purim, commemorating the deliverance of the Persian Jews from the plot of Haman, celebrated this year the evening of March 1 and the morning of Friday, March 2, will be the occasion of special services at the local synagogue, it was said Wednesday.

Home, religious, school and social clubs usually prepare programs in keeping with the jovial character of Purim. Notice of the feast will be given at the local synagogue at the regular services Friday evening, it was said.

REHEARSAL THURSDAY FOR "COME OUT OF KITCHEN"

Dress rehearsal for the play, "Come Out of the Kitchen," will be held by the cast Thursday evening.

This is the annual play being put on by the Tenthredonian Dramatic society of Central high school.

Tickets for the play which will be held Friday night are being sold rapidly and those in charge expect a capacity house.

COUNCIL PLAYED BY "OLD ROMAN"

"Whip" Of Delphos Body Charges Wiggling, Wobbling

Ben Davis, "Old Roman" of Delphos city council, took a hitch in his belt Tuesday night and played the remainder of the body and also himself for "wiggling" and "wobbling."

It was in the form of denunciation in the matter of legislation affecting paving of S. Main, S. Pierce and Cleveland-sts., but heart's ease was found in frank admissions.

"When we took office we swore to decide these matters with our own heads and use our own judgment, but we have not been doing it. Outside influences have dictated our policies," the councilman whip asserted.

"We change our votes too easily and act too timidly. When once we make up our minds, we should hold to it and let nothing interfere, unless shown to be in the wrong and it is possible to remedy the situation," Davis, oldest member of the council from standpoint of experience, advised.

He pointed out instances in which he declared council was found wanting, notably the case last summer when property owners brought pressure to bear in order to have legislation on the three streets repealed.

"I broke faith with the people of Delphos at large by voting yes then," Davis admitted.

LYCEUM SPEAKER TO GIVE ADDRESS HERE

"Two Times Two" is the text of an address announced to be given here at the First Baptist church, Friday night at 7:30, by Dكتور C. Crowl, former newspaperman and head of the Dayton Lyceum bureau.

He was secured for a Lima date thru W. E. McMillan, president of the Brotherhood club of the local church. Crowl has made a particular study of the League of Nations.

GLANDORF CHILD DIES

Margaret Norman, 14-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Norman, of Glandorf, died Tuesday afternoon at St. Rita's, following an operation. The body was taken to the home of the parents Wednesday.

APPRAISERS NAMED

Robert Edwards, United Welch and Ben Southworth, named to appraise estate of the late J. M. Thatcher, Delphos garage man, will soon begin their work. Thatcher's property falls to his son Robert, who has transferred merchandise stocks from his Kokomo store on Second-st. to the Nash and Overland garage, Canale-st., of which his father was the proprietor.

300 LICENSES ISSUED

Three hundred more dog licenses have been issued so far this year in Van Wert-co. than in 1922, according to the sheriff's office. It is expected soon to pass the 3,000 mark.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean white ointment made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite—colds of all sorts. Seldom fails to deliver results. 35c and 65c jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.

AWFUL HEADACHES AND MISERY

A Lima Lady Suffered For Months Before She Found The Plant Juice

DID HER WORLD OF GOOD

"I am glad to tell my friends about your Plant Juice because it surely did me a world of good," said Mrs. C. E. Riegle, of 225 East Vine street, Lima, while talking with The Plant Juice Man recently at Hunter's drug store, 49 Public Square, where large crowds of people are calling daily to have this surprising herbal medicine explained to them.

"For months I had suffered with headaches and had had an awful misery in my sides," Mrs. Riegle continued. "My appetite was poor and I had to be very careful about what I ate and all of my food would go to waste. I had pains in my limbs and felt tired and worn out all the time and could not sleep right."

"It was just a short time ago that I started to take your Plant Juice medicine and I began to improve from the first until now the pains are gone from my head and side and my limbs are improved. I can eat now without any distress afterward; am able to get a good night's rest and that tired, worn out feeling has left me."

"I know your Plant Juice is a fine medicine and I am glad to recommend it to my friends."

Plant Juice is a combination of medicinal herbs, which have an effect upon the stomach, liver, kidneys and nerves. Many people who take this herbal medicine, Plant Juice, say it seems to act like magic. It has given relief in more than a million cases in all parts of the United States.

The Plant Juice Man is at Hunter's drug store, 49 Public Square, Lima, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

Plant Juice is sold also in Lima at Hunter's drug store at Main and Wayne streets and at the Argonne drug store, opposite Post Office—adv.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bed time.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean white ointment made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia,

MRS. MARK KOLTER, State-st., was hostess Wednesday at a handsomely appointed luncheon-bridge, at the Elks Home. The guests were seated at one large table in the private dining room, the table being exquisitely decorated. A color scheme of pink and yellow was used, the centerpiece being a huge basket of jonquills and pink roses. Yellow cathedral candles tied with pink tulle were on either side of the centerpiece while the nut cups took the form of yellow roses. Following the luncheon, the guests enjoyed the afternoon hours with bridge.

Mrs. Kolter's guests included members of the Wednesday Bridge club and a score of guests who were: Mesdames George Carter, M. S. Thompson, Frank Hill, William Deisel, Alan Kinsely, Peter Hulsken, Dwight Goodyear, Warren McLaughlin, Thomas McLaughlin, Frank Baxter, Frank Kominski, Harry Fonten, Harry Wright, Walter Jackson, Joe Cowan, D. I. B. McPherson, H. W. L. Kidder, John Carnes, Ronda Croy, Clemenger Thompson, O. C. Plummer, Roy Gregg, Carl Bowdle, Alfred Wemmer, Henry Deisel, Jr., Henry Deisel, Sr., Miss Gertrude Finley. Out-of-town guests were: Mrs. George Mitchell Conchoon, Mrs. C. T. Kolter, Wapakoneta and Mrs. Elsie Welch, New York City.

Mrs. George Eckert and Mrs. Harry Pew entertained more than 75 guests Wednesday afternoon at a bridge-tea, at the home of Mrs. Pew, 1214 and Cole-sts. The rooms of the Pew home were beautifully decorated with spring flowers, large baskets of flowers being placed attractively in the rooms, where the card tables were placed. Following the bridge games, the hostesses served a delightful two-course tea, assisted by Mrs. H. C. Taylor, Mrs. John Williams, Mrs. Harry McDonald and Mrs. E. O. Steiner.

Those to whom Mrs. Eckert and Mrs. Pew extended invitations are: Mesdames E. J. Andrews, W. L. Ayres, Chas. Borge, H. O. Bentley, R. A. Buchanan, J. H. Blattenburg, F. C. Beum, Walter Baumberger, C. The members of the St. Martha's Guild of Christ church, Episcopal, held an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. Victor Smith, W. High-st., Tuesday. It was decided at this time to give up their plans for an Easter Bazaar, due to the shortness of the time. It is probable that their next bazaar will not be until the Christmas holidays. Preceding an afternoon of sewing, luncheon was served.

The Guild will meet in a week with Mrs. F. H. Hutchinson and Mrs. Ray Colman as hostesses, at Mrs. Hutchinson's home, 1168 Hazel-av.

Miss Mary Roberts will entertain the members of the Monday Evening Bridge club, Wednesday evening, at the home of her sister, Mrs. James Mackenzie, W. Market-st.

Miss Roberts' substitutes for the evening's play will be, Misses Helen McGinnis, Corinne Burroughs, Mary Margaret Bourke, Esther Kietze, Hope Hollister, Rosalie Single, Mrs. Glenn Woodruff, Mrs. R. W. Morris and Mrs. Brita Merchant.

Mrs. F. C. Von Tack, Titusville, Pa., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Frederick McCann, W. North-st.

TALKS TO MOTHERS OF FLAPPERS

No. 1---Don't Let Your Daughter Alarm You

BY CONGRESSWOMAN HUCK

By MRS. WINIFRED M. HUCK
Congresswoman-at-Large From Illinois

There's nothing wrong with the flapper. Don't alarm yourself over her.

In spirit she's as old as the hills. In personification she's but the twentieth century mode of expression—probably influenced a bit by our present manner of living—on the shortest road to those coveted twin possessions held dearest in the heart of every woman.

These two jewels are, first, the longing for attraction and, second, the ever-burning desire to be the center of attraction.

As a mother myself, I cannot share with alarmists their views on the passing throngs of young girls who daily flaunt their pretty bobbed heads and jangle their amusingly long ear-pendants in parade on our "Main Streets."

Moralists may sigh and heave heavy conjectures as to where the marching throng is going. They may regard with grave apprehension the possible aftermath of a "neurotic age." But to me, the flapper symbolizes nothing if it is not sheer honesty, frankness, and a glorifying emancipation from Victorian fetters, which made for feminine pettiness and narrowness of vision.

I love the flapper! She heralds the dawn of a womanhood which will accept equal responsibilities.

The flapper and her purposes are good. She will grow up and enter into motherhood the better for her experiences.

What if her skirts are a trifle short, her manner innocently flippant?

Such exterior labels the flapper not as a new creature by any means but rather as a self-perfected model of something we have had in our midst for a long time.

The flapper includes too many of Miss Edith Brower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Brower, 949 Rich-av., was quietly married Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock to Lowell B. Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Holmes, 1307 W. North-st. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. H. Howard, at the First United Brethren church, only the immediate families and friends being present.

Following an extended wedding trip thru the south, the couple will return to Lima to make their home. The groom is employed at the Lima Post Office.

Mrs. Paul Garrigue welcomed the members of the Agoda club, to her home, Tuesday afternoon. Euchre was enjoyed and at the conclusion of the playing, Mrs. Clarence Wrigley and Mrs. Paul held high scores. Tea was served following the card games, by the hostess assisted by Mrs. L. L. Ward.

Guests other than the club members were Mrs. Thad Leigh and Mrs. L. L. Ward.

Mrs. Clarence Wrigley, Ewing-av., will entertain the club in two weeks.

And whatever her aim, her purpose, her desire, I know it is based on goodness, candor and truth.

No structure built on such foundations can topple. Nor can it be so corrupt as a good many moralists are charging.

freedom. Freedom as opposed to license can be sustained only when guided by education, intelligence and confidence. Therein lies the parents' obligation.

TOMORROW: Are petting parties facts or fancies?

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart:

My daughter was married a month ago to a man I despise. I told her she could never come home again if she married him and that I never would go to see her. Now I don't feel that I can go on living without her. I wrote and told her that she is welcome to come home at any time, but that she is never to bring her husband home with her and I shall never set my foot in her house. She wrote back that she will never come until he can come too. Don't you think that when I have gone so far she should be willing to come half way? What am I to do?

WORRIED MOTHER
SINCE you will evidently have to go the whole way in order to have a reconciliation with your daughter, that is the sensible thing for you to do for the sake of both of you.

It is unwise to make so positive a statement in such a case, for almost invariably a parent who does so, later regrets the difficulty it places in the way of reconciliation.

Now your daughter is married, make the best of the situation and for your own sake and hers, try to make a friend of her husband.

Dear Miss Smart:

I am a girl 18 years old. The other day a young man took his sister and me to a movie. This was the first time he had taken me any place. I didn't invite him to call when he left, because I was too bashful. Do you think he will feel that I was rude?

BEAUTIFUL HAIR IN A MOMENT

Try This! Hair Appears Soft, Colorful and Abundant—A Gleamy Mass

35 Cent Bottle of "Danderine" Also Ends Dandruff; Falling Hair!

Immediately!—your hair becomes beautiful. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully thru your hair, taking one small strand at a time; this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few minutes you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and really appear twice as thick and abundant—a mass of luxuriant, glinty, colorful hair.

Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine eradicates dandruff; invigorates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is the most perfect and most delightful hair corrective and tonic. It is to the hair what fresh showers of rain are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, vitalizes and strengthens them. Its stimulating properties help the hair to grow long, heavy, strong.

You can surely have beautiful hair, and lot of it, if you will spend 35 cents for a bottle of Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter. It is not greasy, oily or sticky.

Our Kind of Bargains

There are bargains and bargains! Too often the word bargain means merely a cheap article sold at a low price and worth no more.

Or it may mean a good article at a few cents discount as a mere inducement to buy—other things for all they are worth or more.

Our bargains are bargains of SERVICE. Market Street Drug Store service, because of the safeguards which surround it, is worth more than ordinary service.

But it costs YOU no more—not a penny more than average service. Anyone who can go to any drug store can as well come to our store for a prescription or for any standard drug store article.

You'll like our kind of bargains.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
SIR NORMAN GREYES, formerly of Scotland Yard, is devoting his time to tracking down an arch criminal of many disguises known to him as MICHAEL SATYERS.

JANET SOALE, maid in Sayers' cottage in England, is in love with her master. She shoots down a police officer who has tracked Michael to his abode.

Sayers, known at the golf club as Mr. Stanfield, plays a game with Sir Norman during which the suspicions of the latter are aroused as to Sir Stanfield's real identity.

After a three-months' vacation, Greyes meets Stanfield in a hotel lobby. An insurance company asks Sir Norman to question a South American widow, living at the hotel, regarding a policy of a hundred thousand pounds carried on her remarkable record of perils.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
"Have you had any information of thieves working in this neighborhood?" I asked him.

"None whatever," he replied. "I will be perfectly frank with you. It is not an ordinary robbery of which we are afraid. For some reason or other, our inquiry department has formed a dubious opinion of Mrs. De Mendoza herself."

"I see," I remarked. "You are afraid of a fraud."

"Precisely! Directly we received the letter from the hotel detective, we rang up the manager here. All that we could learn was that the illness was altogether unexpected, and that the man had been compelled to go home at a moment's notice. In reply to our request that a trained detective might take his place, the management assured us that they considered nothing of the sort necessary. No robbery of jewels had ever taken place from this hotel, and they consider their night porter fully competent to watch over the interests of their guests."

"Sir William Greaves, our manager, desired me to suggest a fee of two hundred guineas," my visitor concluded.

"I will accept the commission," I promised.

The next morning I interviewed the manager of the hotel, to whom I was well known. He showed some irritation when I spoke of Mrs. De Mendoza's necklace, and her nervousness concerning it.

"To be quite frank with you," he confessed, "although Mrs. De Mendoza is a good client and pays her accounts regularly, I am inclined to be sorry that we ever let her the rooms."

"Why?" I asked.

"People with valuable jewelry should accept the possession with a certain amount of caution."

"This is the best hotel in London where a jewel robbery would be likely. The lady herself, I understand, takes every possible care and caution. She wears her necklace nowhere except in the restaurant and lounge, and every night it is deposited in the hotel safe. However, you may rely upon it, Sir Norman, that every facility will be given to you in your task. I would suggest that you pay a visit to the lady herself."

The idea had already occurred to me, and later in the day I sent up my card to Mrs. De Mendoza and was at once invited to enter her sitting-room. I found her writing letters, simply dressed in a black negligee and wearing the pearls. As she turned and invited me to seat myself, she threw in my memory a faint suggestion of reminiscence. She listened to the few words with which I introduced myself, and smiled deprecatingly.

"It is true that I am very foolish," she admitted, "but then I have always been a person of superstitions. I have owned my necklace for some years, and I have had it with me in quite lawless places. I have never, however, felt just the same amount of apprehension as I do at the present moment."

She came over to my side, and without unclasping the necklace, let it rest in my hands. The pearls were all marvelously matched, all of considerable size, and with that milky softness which she pointed out to me as being proof of their great perfection. As we stood there, necessarily close together, a wisp of her hair touched my forehead. Something in the timbre of her low laugh as she brushed it back induced me to look up. There were qualities about her smile and the peculiar expression of her eyes which gave me a momentary thrill.

"Do you admire my pearls?" she asked softly.

"They are very wonderful," I admitted.

She moved away slowly. I breathed more easily as the distance increased between us. She looked over her shoulder unexpectedly, and the slight frown passed from her forehead. She was obviously more content.

"Tell me how you propose to guard my treasure, Sir Norman?" she inquired as she sank into an easy-chair. "Shall you stand behind my chair at dinner, disguised as a waiter, and lie on my mat at night? It gives one quite a shivery sensation."

"I am not at all sure," I replied.

"You are determined to pay me no compliments this evening, and I am wearing my favorite gown."

"I admire your taste," I assured her.

"Anything else?"

"You are the best-dressed and the best-looking woman in the room."

"Too impersonal," she complained.

I turned the conversation to the subject of the necklace. The pearls were collected for her, she told me, by her husband, some in India, some in the Malay states, some in Paris, some in Rio. She spoke of him quite frankly—a prosperous fruit-broker who had achieved sudden opulence.

"It was quite as much a change for me as for him," she remarked. "I was a typist in Buenos Aires before we were married. I have known what it is to be poor."

She answered all my questions without reserve, displaying later on much interest in the recounting of such of my adventures as were public property. I began to feel that I had been mistaken with regard to her, that she was really exactly what she seemed—a very wealthy woman of adventurous type, suddenly released from matrimonial obligations and a little uncertain what to make of her life. We took our coffee in the lounge afterward, in the background my golfing friend Mr. Stanfield, was seated, smoking a cigaret in a retired corner, and having the air of studying everyone who passed.

THE ENTRANCE OF MRS. DE MENDOZA CREATED A MILD SENSATION IN THE LOBBY.

sensation to think of such espionage."

"Believe me," I assured her, "I shall not be in the least obtrusive. I understand that you send your pearls down every night to the hotel safe."

"I have always done so," she answered. "Do you think it would be better to keep them up here? Will you promise to sit in this easy-chair, with a revolver on your knee, all night, if I do so?"

"Not for the world," I declared. "The hotel safe is much the better place."

"I am glad to hear your decision," she said with a slight smile. "I should sleep very little if I thought that my pearls were near me—and that you were sitting here on guard. The idea would be disturbing."

"One cannot guard against miracles," I observed, but I think you can make your mind quite easy about the necklace. If you should need me any time, the number of my room is Four-thirty-two."

"On this floor?"

"On this floor."

"Tell me," she asked a little abruptly as I arose to take my leave, "who was the man with whom you were talking last night in the lounge—a slim, middle-aged man with a very hard face? I am always seeing him in the lift."

"A man I know scarcely anything of," I replied. "His name, I believe, is Stanfield. I once played golf with him down at Woking."

"Stanfield?" she repeated. "Was it in his grounds near Woking that a murder was committed—a policeman was found shot there?"

I nodded. "I was playing with Mr. Stanfield at the time," I told her. "And the murderer was never discovered?"

"Never!"

"I wonder you didn't take an interest in the case yourself," she remarked.

"I did," I told her.

"She made a little grimace. "My fears for my necklace are re-awakened," she declared. "Surely it ought to have been an easy task for a clever man like you, one who used to be called a really great detective, to discover the murderer."

"It is beyond my power to bring him to justice at any rate," I replied. "There are many criminals walking about today, of whose guilt the police are perfectly well aware. They cannot be arrested, however, for lack of evidence."

"How thrilling!" she murmured. "Will you ask me to dine with you some night and tell me some of your adventures?"

"I shall be happy to do so," I replied. "Meanwhile—" certain graciousness of attitude on her part which more than once during our interview had forced itself upon my notice.

Later, about seven o'clock, a note was brought into my room.

Dear Sir Norman,

A lady and her husband who were dining, have disappointed me. Can you, by any chance, be my guest? If so, let us meet at eight o'clock in the lounge. Hopefully yours,

Blanche de Mendoza.

I scribbled a line of acceptance. I felt, as I descended into the lounge that evening, a premonition that life for the next few hours was going to be very interesting indeed.

At eight o'clock, precisely, Mrs. De Mendoza came into the lounge. She was wearing a white lace evening dress with an ermine wrap hanging loosely around her, disclosing the pearls underneath. Her entrance made a mild sensation. Mr. Stanfield, who was seated in his accustomed corner, drinking his cocktail, watched our meeting and departure into the restaurant with obvious surprise.

"The little man was there again who stares at me so much—Mr. Stanfield. I think you called him?" she remarked as we took our places. I nodded.

"I dare say he was surprised to see us together," I said. "I asked him who you were, on the night of my arrival here."

"Why?"

"For the same reason that a great many other people ask the same question," I replied.

She made a little grimace. "You are determined to pay me no compliments this evening, and I am wearing my favorite gown."

"I admire your taste," I assured her.

"Anything else?"

"You are the best-dressed and the best-looking woman in the room."

"Too impersonal," she complained.

I turned the conversation to the subject of the necklace. The pearls were collected for her, she told me, by her husband, some in India, some in the Malay states, some in Paris, some in Rio. She spoke of him quite frankly—a prosperous fruit-broker who had achieved sudden opulence.

"It was quite as much a change for me as for him," she remarked. "I was a typist in Buenos Aires before we were married. I have known what it is to be poor."

She answered all my questions without reserve, displaying later on much interest in the recounting of such of my adventures as were public property. I began to feel that I had been mistaken with regard to her, that she was really exactly what she seemed—a very wealthy woman of adventurous type, suddenly released from matrimonial obligations and a little uncertain what to make of her life. We took our coffee in the lounge afterward, in the background my golfing friend Mr. Stanfield, was seated, smoking a cigaret in a retired corner, and having the air of studying everyone who passed.

sensation to think of such espionage."

"Believe me," I assured her, "I shall not be in the least obtrusive. I understand that you send your pearls down every night to the hotel safe."

"I have always done so," she answered. "Do you think it would be better to keep them up here? Will you promise to sit in this easy-chair, with a revolver on your knee, all night, if I do so?"

"Not for the world," I declared. "The hotel safe is much the better place."

"I am glad to hear your decision," she said with a slight smile. "I should sleep very little if I thought that my pearls were near me—and that you were sitting here on guard. The idea would be disturbing."

"One cannot guard against miracles," I observed, but I think you can make your mind quite easy about the necklace. If you should need me any time, the number of my room is Four-thirty-two."

"On this floor?"

"On this floor."

"Tell me," she asked a little abruptly as I arose to take my leave, "who was the man with whom you were talking last night in the lounge—a slim, middle-aged man with a very hard face? I am always seeing him in the lift."

"A man I know scarcely anything of," I replied. "His name, I believe, is Stanfield. I once played golf with him down at Woking."

"Stanfield?" she repeated. "Was it in his grounds near Woking that a murder was committed—a policeman was found shot there?"

I nodded. "I was playing with Mr. Stanfield at the time," I told her. "And the murderer was never discovered?"

"Never!"

"I wonder you didn't take an interest in the case yourself," she remarked.

"I did," I told her.

"She made a little grimace. "My fears for my necklace are re-awakened," she declared. "Surely it ought to have been an easy task for a clever man like you, one who used to be called a really great detective, to discover the murderer."

"It is beyond my power to bring him to justice at any rate," I replied. "There are many criminals walking about today, of whose guilt the police are perfectly well aware. They cannot be arrested, however, for lack of evidence."

"How thrilling!" she murmured. "Will you ask me to dine with you some night and tell me some of your adventures?"

"I shall be happy to do so," I replied. "Meanwhile—"

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Multisilfied coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It is very cheap and beats anything else at to pieces. You can get Multisilfied at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Multisilfied in a cup of glass with a little warm water is all that is required. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub the Multisilfied coconut oil in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Multisilfied.—Adv.

Special Purchase Sale of Stamped Goods at About 1-2 Price

The sale of needlework held early in January was a great success. This one is proving just as great, if not greater. The reason for this remarkable sale lies in the fact that The Royal Society Company closed out to us a lot of discontinued goods—perfect and desirable—not shop-worn nor out of style—every piece offered represents a real saving. There is still a good selection from which to choose. Lay in a good supply now at these low prices.

IN LIMA PLAYHOUSES TODAY

BY GERTRUDE GILLHAM

Faurot Offers Entertaining Bill.

COMEDY is the outstanding feature of the Keith bill offered for the last half of the week, and that is what Lima audiences enjoy. There is enough harmony interpolated to make this one of the most entertaining bills offered by the Faurot for several weeks.

The first act is offered in a clever setting with a ship as a background and a ship's equipment as the paraphernalia used in their gymnastic and balancing feats. The Ankor Trio will demonstrate a series of highly developed achievements. The trio is composed of two men and an attractive woman.

The Ja-Da Trio, including Jimmy Chester, Stuart Allen and Bobby O'Brien, three live-wire boys, will present an offering consisting of singing, dancing, piano playing and comedy of the sort that keeps an audience roaring with laughter. The act was taken from the famous funny song "Ja-Da" which was introduced by the trio who as stars in the Great Lakes Revue, "Leave it to The Sailors," launched the Lyric Is Offering Big Attraction.

EXACT reproduction of one of the biggest and most lavishly invested cabarets in the heart of New York's Great White Way was built at the Warner Brothers West coast studios for the filmization of F. Experts in interior decorating were consulted, and at great expense

"Dangerous Age" Continues At Sigma.

THE "Dangerous Age," a John M. Stahl-First National attraction is now enjoying a sensational run at the Sigma theatre. It is conceded to be the best production ever made by Mr. Stahl, who has such pictures as "One Clear Call," "The Song of Life" and "The Child Thou Gavest Me" to his credit.

In his desire to secure realism in several of the big scenes in "The Dangerous Age," the director and two of his cameramen narrowly escaped death when the car from which they were photographing a race between a train and an automobile skidded as it reached a crossing and just missed plunging into the

"His Royal Majesty" At Orpheum Tomorrow.

HIS Royal Majesty will be the offering of the Why Worry company at the New Orpheum theatre for the first part of the week starting tomorrow's matinee. Verne "Buzz" Phelps and Gene "Honey-Gal" Cobb, the two featured players with the company, will be seen in the leading black face comedy parts. "Buzz" will be seen in an entirely new comedy character playing the part of an eccentric old man in "His Royal Majesty." Gene "Honey-Gal" Cobb will be seen in a good advantage. As an extra added feature Buzz and Honey Gal will conduct the chicken contest which will be the extra added feature and in the hands of these two

NEW YORK—A large volume of overnight buying orders, attracted by the brisk rally yesterday afternoon, imparted a strong tone to opening prices in today's stock market. The demand was most effective in the copper, oil, steel and equipment. Utah Copper opened 1 1/2 higher at a new level for the year and was followed into higher ground by Magna and Inspiration coppers. Butte Superior and American Smelting, Baldwin and Lima Locomotives each opened a point higher.

Prices were bid up in vigorous fashion in the first half hour. Lima Locomotive extended its gain to 2 1/2 points. Republic Steel to 2 1/2 each and Butte and Superior to a point. American Woolen established a new high record at 105 3/4. Motor accessories joined the upward swing under the leadership of Bosch Magneto and Fisher Body up 1 1/4 and 2 points, respectively. California Petroleum led the oil shares with a gain of 1 3/8 points. Tobacco shares were heavily bought, gains of 1 1/2 to 2 points being recorded by American Sumatra, Tobacco Products A. and B. and United Retail Stores. Publication of additional favorable January earnings statements also induced buying of the rails. St. Louis Southwestern preferred, Northern Pacific and Western Pacific preferred rising 1 to 2 points. Foreign exchanges opened steady.

Virtually all sections of the list participated in the strong upward movement of this morning. Food operations were actively conducted in a number of special stocks, gains of 1 1/2 to 6 points being registered before noon by Porto Rican Tobacco, United Cigar Stores, U. S. Realty, United Retail Stores, Kroger, Postum Cereal and Steel and Tube preferred. Fluctuations in the railroad shares were comparatively narrow. New high records for the year were established by this morning. Pullman shares in response to the higher prices for the red metal. Call money opened at 5 per cent.

SHORT SHAVINGS

Column of Anecdotes About Home Folks
What is the funniest experience that ever happened to you? Write it out briefly and send it to the Short Shavings Editor of The Lima News. For the best contributed Short Shavings published in the week The News will pay $1. Full names and address must be signed.

Goldie Swiggert, 943 Reese-av., writes of an incident concerning her sister, who, when she first came to Lima went to the Leader Store with her aunt. "My aunt started to walk up the stairs and my sister said, 'Oh auntie, let's go up in the refrigerator.'"

Martha Crider, Spencerville R. D. 1, relates the following: "One bright moonlight night, my husband and small son Russell were walking to church. When about half way there Russell said, 'Father, I wish I had the moon.' 'Why?' inquired the father. 'Well,' said Russell, 'I'd take a hammer, knock a hole thru the middle and hang it around my neck, then we wouldn't need any lanterns.'"

"A family in our neighborhood had three small children who loved to go to Sunday school and were very much interested in the story of Adam and Eve," relates Mrs. W. R. Rudy, 115 W. Wayne-st. "One day the mother left the children alone while she went to the grocery. When she returned, she found the two older children lying under her large fern. 'Children, what are you doing?' she inquired. 'The little girl answered, 'Mother, we are playing Adam and Eve and this is our apple tree.' Turning around she saw her baby boy, aged four, coming in, carrying a cane and clad in his nightgown, wearing his father's hat. 'Son, who are you?' she asked. 'O, I'm just Dad Almighty, walking in the Garden of Eden in the tool of the day.'"

Lenore McKinney submits this one. "Little Johnny had received strict orders to ask no questions and Johnny tried hard to obey, but childish curiosity won, and he suddenly cried out, 'Mamma, do Mr. and Mrs. Smith still play in the orchestra?' 'Why, Johnny, Mr. and Mrs. Smith don't play in the orchestra. Why ask such a silly question?' 'Because,' said Johnny, 'I heard you tell papa that Mr. Smith played second fiddle to his wife.'"

Maxine Clover, Mendon, writes: "A small neighbor boy who goes to school, came home one day and told his mother that he had to sit on the bad seat for being naughty. So his mother said, 'Lowell if you have to sit on the bad seat any more, I will punish you.' The next day when he came home at noon his mother asked, 'Did you have to sit on the bad seat today?' 'No,' he replied, 'The bad seat was full, so the teacher made me sit on the recitation seat.'"

Warren Whitney, 1128 Reese-av., writes about a little girl nine years old who was frying an egg for her breakfast. She had turned it over and wanted it fried brown on both sides. In order to see if it was done on the under side, she picked up the skillet and looked on the bottom.

Mrs. J. E. Bogart, 221 N. Jackson-st., Bluffton, tells about her grandson, aged three, who was not feeling well, so his mother placed him by the window where he could watch the trains on a track. His mother hearing a train whistle, told him it was another train coming. "No, 'taint," he said. "It's just standing there hollering for its mamma!"

"A little boy was sitting on our steps the other day," tells Marvin Lutzoff, 1027 Laurel-av., "when a man came up to him and asked, 'Is your mother home little boy?' 'Yes,' replied the boy. 'The man went up on the porch and rang the bell a few times. No one answering, he turned to the little one and said, 'I thought you said your mother was home?' 'Sure, she is,' he said, 'but I don't live here.'"

"During a recent festival in Lima, the White Mountain Creamery left red tags on their bottles announcing the Mardi Gras. One morning brother asked, 'Did you see the White Mountain Creamery's ad for the Mardi Gras?' 'Oh, is that it?' said sister. 'I thought it was an ad for a new kind of grass they were feeding to the cows.' This is submitted by Hally Speer, 1301 Lakewood-av.

Dick Geier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Geier, Delphos, is a Lima News newsboy and meets many peculiar experiences.

The man who recently palmed off a German penning on him for a dime evidently doesn't know the war is over, Dick says.

At another time, not so long ago, a man wanted 50 cents worth of papers all at one time. Dick handed them over and the man didn't accept even one, but insisted that Dick keep the money.

Dick, who is wise for his years, thinks as long as his customers are in that sort of mood he should worry, but the present rate of exchange doesn't warrant any foreign coins.

Mrs. Clarence Fryberger, 759 W. Wayne-st., tells about her little three year old son, Robert. He was eating popcorn last Sunday and his mother told him not to eat too much, for it was not good for him. He said it was not going in his stomach; it was going in his feet.

Mrs. Frank Walker, 303 McPherson-av., tells that her little daughter and a friend of hers went to the basement to crack hickory nuts one evening. During the absence of the mother, they couldn't find the hammer so they used the shaker for the furnace to crack the nuts. She was telling her mother about it the other day; that they couldn't find the hammer. Her mother asked her what they used and she said, 'Oh! that iron thing that Dad uses to crank the furnace with.'"

COLD'S

"Pape's Cold Compound" Breaks a Cold in Few Hours

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling! Take "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until three doses are taken. The first dose opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages of head; stops nose running; relieves headache, dullness, feverishness, sneezing.

The second and third doses usually break up the cold completely and end all grippiness. "Pape's Cold Compound" is the quickest, surest relief known and costs only a few cents at drug stores. Tastes nice. Contains no quinine. Insist upon Pape's.—Adv.

Simple Way to End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need) apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Adv.

NOTICE TO LANDOWNERS

Assignment of E. C. McGinniss
Auditor's Office, Auglaize County, Ohio
February 20, 1923.
In the Matter of the Estate of John Ditch, deceased, No. 477, Petition for by W. H. Montague, et al.
To W. H. Montague, et al.
John Ditch, deceased, Highley, William Kohlhorst, W. M. Fecht, Auglaize County, Allen County, Melissa Peoples, Wayne Township, Auglaize County and Auglaize Township, Allen County.
You, and each of you, are hereby notified that on the 15th day of January the above named petitioners filed a petition with the Auditor of Auglaize County for the location and construction of a ditch, the general location of which is as follows:
"Commencing at a point about 80 rods east and about 20 rods south of the North-west corner of Section No. 4, Town 3 South, Range 8 East, Wayne Township, Auglaize County, Ohio. Thence running in a south-westerly course through the lands of W. H. Montague and John Meyer to the west line of said Section No. 4; thence in a North-westerly course through the lands of John Meyer, E. J. Smith, Her Highley to the Auglaize and Allen County line and the lands of William Kohlhorst in Allen County to intersect Her Highley, Ditch on said William Kohlhorst's lands and there terminate."
They ask that said ditch be tiled.

It is claimed the improvement will affect property owned by you. YOU ARE THEREFORE NOTIFIED, that the Joint Board of County Commissioners of Auglaize and Allen Counties has fixed Tuesday, the 15th day of March, A. D. 1923, at 2 o'clock A. Grippe

Physicians advise keeping the bowels open as a safeguard against Grippe or Influenza.

When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication.

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe. Try it today.
